The main Kangqiao (in Shanghai) and Shunde (in Guangdong Province) workshops of the company are able to overhaul main engine components such as cylinder heads, pistons, liners, fuel injection pumps, fuel injectors and turbochargers. The service team fully understands the marine and oil & gas industries and the commitment of time and effort it takes to turn around a repair job in the often tight time window set by a vessel's schedule or the cost of lost production downtime. The company's culture of stability, continuity and strong ownership of customer relationships stems from a blend of long-tenured senior personnel and new employees drafted in to support the growth in MaK-branded engine sales and the greater China user population.
