BAR CODE COMPLIANCE

Electro-Motive Diesel (EMD) recognizes that providing bar code identification on a packing slip, label, and packaging is challenging. Many bar code software packages are available at office supply stores and while they work well for some applications they do not work well in an industrial environment.

Some of the bar codes provided by EMD suppliers on labels, packaging, and documents cannot be read with EMD scanners. Bar code software packages have specific requirements in order for the bar code to be read. In addition it must be compatible with all computer programs such as Windows Me, NT, 2000, Vista, XP, and 7.

EMD has requested Advanced Distribution Solutions, Inc. (ADSI) to make available for purchase a bar code compliance software package. It includes all the essentials needed to meet the EMD packaging requirements found on pages 24-28 of the Supplier Packaging & Shipping Manual. ADSI can provide the labeling software program, bar code printers, labeling supplies, and the necessary support to help with the installation. Please see page 2 of this announcement for purchasing information and price list.

For more information or to place an order, contact Steve Hickman, Senior Account Executive at ADSI. Identify yourself as an EMD supplier, your name, company name, phone number, and e-mail address.
