charity: water is a nonprofit organization on a mission to bring clean and safe drinking water to people in developing countries.

Notable Initiatives and Stories:

At charity: water, we believe birthdays can be used to solve the water crisis. To date, about 79,823 people have pledged their birthdays and $16,965,540 million has been raised for clean water through birthdays alone. Learn more here.

One of our most notable campaigners was a 9-year-old girl named Rachel Beckwith whose story inspired thousands of people all around the world to donate to her 9th birthday campaign which raised over $1.2 million. Watch her story here.

Letikiros Hailu was a 13-year-old Ethiopian girl who took her own life after accidentally dropping the water she had spent hours walking for that day. Read her tragic story here.

Water changes everything. It means less time spent walking, better health, more kids in school, more parents earning income, and better futures for everyone. But it can also make women, like Helen Apio, feel beautiful. Read her story here.
