KAYAK OWNER'S MANUAL

Transportation

Use caution when transporting your kayak. Be sure to tie down your kayak, but do not overtighten the straps. If the seat is removable, remove it and stow it in your vehicle during over-the-road transportation.

Storage

Be sure to empty the kayak of all water. You should clean the kayak by rinsing with freshwater, especially if the kayak has been used in salt water or becomes muddy. Store the kayak out of direct sunlight.

Usage

Sit in the cockpit area of the kayak, centered in the provided seat area. Using the foot braces, secure your feet so your knees are bent and feel sturdy. Paddle with your arms evenly apart at a medium speed switching back and forth from one side to the other. The paddle should enter the water around your shins and pull out of the water around your hips.

Helpful Tips For Your Kayak

Always store your watercraft out of direct sunlight when not in use. Your watercraft is manufactured with UV-resistant color, but a watercraft stored in direct sunlight over long periods of time will color fade.

- Your new watercraft is molded of high-density, polyethylene resin. Periodic cleaning with mild soap and water is recommended to keep your kayak looking new.
- Never drag any portion of the watercraft over asphalt, rocky, sandy or abrasive surfaces.
- Do not stand or sit on your watercraft when out of the water. This can damage the watercraft.
- During regular use, it is normal to find small amounts of water inside or on the watercraft. Carefully unscrew the drain plug and tilt the watercraft to let the water drain out. Secure the drain plug when finished.
- If your watercraft has been exposed to hot sunlight, it is recommended to splash water on the hull to cool the hot surface before it comes in direct contact with your skin. This should also be done for any paddles you may have.
