CORPORATE SALES CATALOG

Marmot®

The first Marmot store
in Grand Junction, CO

Marmot was born in 1974 by a wild group of mountain-loving misfits. That spirit of wildness inspires us to make the gear and clothing we need to play out loud in the mountains and beyond. If you feel the call of your inner wild, you're one of us.

BORN WILD SINCE 1974.

GROUNDING IN SUSTAINABILITY

Sustainability has always been a focus of Marmot's design and manufacturing. That continues in Fall 2020 as we carry forward the momentum of the offering-wide packaging program.

Factory Welfare

Protecting and promoting the well-being of the people who make the products we sell is a core component of running a responsible business. We require all suppliers to adhere to our Code of Conduct and we physically audit their facilities annually.

Environmentally-Friendly Fabrics

Bluesign® is the leading standard for apparel that ensures the elimination of harmful substances and guarantees environmentally responsible and safe production of materials.

Recycled Materials

Industrial nylon waste is upcycled into new nylon yarn reducing the petroleum & energy necessary to create virgin yarn. 36% of Marmot's volume uses recycled, upcycled, and renewable materials.

Environmentally-Friendly DWR

Many of our shells now utilize PFC-free waterproofing treatment using natural materials with by-products that break down faster in the environment.

GEAR

*Ptarmigan Traverse,
North Cascades, Washington*

"I attempted my first mountaineering route; Ptarmigan Traverse, in the North Cascades of Washington State. Due to the conditions of the glaciers we had to turn back around half way through, (climate change I blame you) but I had the best time eating top notch dehydrated pad thai in the wild mountains with new (and less new) friends. I learned a lot, earned some blisters, scratches and bruises, slipped down a snowy chute, and got scared staring down crevasses, but still came back in one piece! Also, I learned that mountaineering is extremely hardcore. I respect the hell out of you mountain people getting it out there!"
