

Comparing Animals and Machines

Name: _____

Answer the following questions.

This is a beaver. It uses its big, sharp teeth to demolish (knock down) and haul logs to make its home.

What job can a beaver and grapppler do?

This attachment is called a grapppler. It is used to sort materials, haul things, or demolish (knock down) objects.

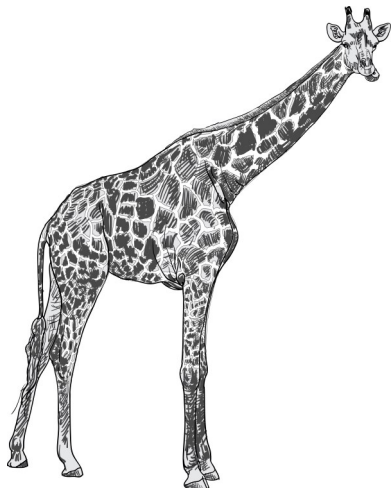

This attachment is called a ripper. Sometimes it goes on the back of a tractor to break up dirt.

What job can a ripper and a badger do?

This is a badger. It lives underground and has large claws to break up and move dirt.

This is a giraffe. It has a long neck to eat leaves from tall trees.

What job can a giraffe and a telehandler do?

This machine is a telehandler. It can extend to high places.