Cat[®] Well Stimulation Pumps

Well Constructed

When your job needs a stimulation pump, we're ready. Our full line of well stimulation pumps are designed and manufactured by Caterpillar, in Caterpillar factories for single-source package confidence.

Standard Features

FLUID ENDS

- Increased durability of fluid ends to decrease downtime
- Full line of 8" and 10" fluid ends for application flexibility
- Dimensionally compatible fluid ends with industry standard 8" and 10" stroke power ends
- Valve-over-valve design to simplify valve, seat, and plunger installation
- Polypak seals for more reliable sealing at suction cover and discharge flanges
- Components designed to maximize interchangeability across our fluid end line and industry standard fluid ends

POWER ENDS

- Industry standard footprint – fully interchangeable with competitors' pumps
- Reverse helical pinion and bull gear design for great reliability
- Fully welded structure with additional internal supports
- Two-piece stay rod design – pre-tensioned stay rod lowers cyclic loading and fatigue stress
- Nose plate-to-frame design with dovetail interlocking to increase structural strength
- Forged or fabricated bull gears – no cast material
- One-piece forged crankshaft
