

TRUE DOUBLE II™

Model No. 110

Double Frame

3 Prophylactic Reeds

If necessary, trim tape for proper fit.

The True Double II™ is in our "Piggy Back™" series, meaning it has one frame stacked on top of another. This gives you 1/16" reed separation so your reeds don't stick. Tempting gobblers right out of a tree can be done with the True Double II™. It produces raspy yelps, clucks, cuts and cackles with a slightly higher pitch than the True Double™.

INSTRUCTIONS & EXERCISES

Put the call in the middle of your mouth with:

1. Front of call facing out. The notch goes to the right ensuring that the short reed is down when using a multiple reed call.
2. Tongue should be 1/4" to 1/2" past the reeds. Try different tongue positions for different sounds.
3. Press your tongue against the call to seal it in the middle of the roof of your mouth.

EXERCISES: Force air between your tongue and the reeds when exhaling. You should make a squeaking sound.

1. Cluck - Say "plock" sharply. Note the "p" is formed with your lips when you do this.
2. Yelp - Say, "cholk, cholk, cholk" while trying different mouth positions and rhythms.
3. Cutting - Say, "pot, pot, pot". The lips come together for each cut.
4. Purr - Vibrate your vocal cords similar to gargling, vibrate your lips or flutter your tongue. The air comes across the reeds producing a very soft, controlled vibration.
5. Cackling - Say "kit kit, cat cat cat cat, cholk cholk cholk" This call is easily achieved when the jaw is used to set the tempo and rhythm.
6. Kee Kee - Say, "pee pee pee". Make a high note and start and stop the flow of air with your lips.
7. Kee Kee Run - Say, "pee pee, cholk".
