MANDAPA, A RITZ-CARLTON RESERVE LAUNCHES NEW MENU AT THE INDONESIAN RESTAURANT SAWAH TERRACE
Discerning Gourmet Travelers Will Experience the Very Best of Indonesian Flavors

UBUD, BALI – April 1, 2019 – Sawah Terrace at Mandapa, a Ritz-Carlton Reserve has recently launched a new menu. Under the helm of our Executive Sous Chef Bayu Retno Timur, the all-day-dining restaurant has launched a new culinary experience that focused on the rich flavors of Indonesia.

The new menu is inspired by the distinctive flavors from across the archipelago:

- Sumatra: slow-cooked beef cheek rendang curry
- Java: grilled satays and braised oxtail soup ‘Sop Buntut’
- Sulawesi: Manado spicy basil red snapper ‘Ikan kakap woku’
- Bali: braised duck in Balinese spices ‘Bebek Betutu’ and traditional Balinese style roasted pork ‘Babi Guling’

“With the concept of family-style dining in mind, we do recommend to share few dishes together. This way, there will be lots of variety to try in one table at once. Free-flow steamed rice will also be offered in three different types: white rice, organic red rice and nasi uduk, a typical Indonesian rice made with coconut milk” said Director of Food & Beverage Anna Mauri.

Before the starters and main course, a stone bowl of fresh mix vegetables with sambal for the dipping, also known as lalapan, with sides of dried anchovies and kerupuk or Indonesian crackers are served. The fermented rice Tape Uli and Es Dawet Nangka and Cendol from the dessert menu are also adapted from two of Indonesian desserts but are elevated and served with a scoop of ice cream and exotic soup.

Not only the menu, at Sawah Terrace, we evoke the real “back to the roots” experience and introduce the traditional dining custom inspired by the region. As an example, knives are not needed as Balinese usually prefer to eat from a flat dish with a western-style fork and spoon. A hand washing ritual ‘kobokan’ is also offered on the table before every meal. Kobokan bowl will consist of water for rinsing as well as lime, pandan and kafir lime leaves as natural sanitizer.

Located at the edge of the Reserve valley, Sawah Terrace provides panoramic views of the majestic Ayung River, bringing "dining with nature" to the next level.
