INTRODUCING REPUBLIC'S PUNCH BOWLS

In keeping with its 60s concept, Republic has introduced three distinct punch bowls. Once synonymous with every great soiree, punch was a main feature of opulent house parties in the 1960s. A very social and communal drink, it is now back in vogue.

Punch is the drink of crossroads; of ships and ports, commerce and adventure. It started in the ports of India and the East Indies using native ingredients such as arrack, lime juice, palm sugar and spices, before becoming the first mixed spirits drink to become globally popular. Over the years, other ingredients such as London dry gin, sherry wine, fancy liqueurs, American rye whiskey, and cold soda water have been incorporated into punch bowl recipes, making it one of the most exciting styles of mixed beverages.

Republic is delighted to have worked with David Wondrich to shape our punch bowl menu. A key figure driving the punch revival, Wondrich is one of the world's foremost authorities on the history of the cocktail and one of the founders of the modern craft cocktail movement. "There is no quicker way to bind a group of people together in friendship than to gather them around a bowl of real punch,” shares David.

Punch Bowls

Republic’s three distinct punch bowls each tell a unique story;

Paul Jones Punch

In 1844, the American clipper ship Paul Jones brought the first blocks of American ice to Singapura - not seen here before. Our Paul Jones Punch combines Michter’s straight rye whiskey, an American classic, with East India sherry, a dash of curaçao, citrus juice, sugar, and the fragrant oil of citrus peels. And, of course, ice.

Straits Gin Cup

The original, bright and refreshing gin sling as enjoyed at the Singapore Cricket Club in 1913, made big enough to share. Farmer's Gin, lemon shrub and sparkling water, spiced up with Bénédictine, cherry brandy and bitters.

Captain Dampier’s Rack Punch

William Dampier (1651-1715) was a pirate and an adventurer. This punch is based on Sri Lankan palm arrack stiffened with French cognac as Dampier suggested, and finished with a pineapple-gula melaka syrup and citrus.

Each punch bowl is available at SGD 250 and makes 12 to 15 servings.
