FABRIC COLLECTION

CRAFTED FROM THE PAST & PRESENT

Invicta is a Latin word that means undefeated or unconquered. The word itself transports us to the origins of civilization and the search for raw expression and heritage. The Invicta collection from Aldeco reflects the preservation of art and science and the reuniting of past knowledge and craft with skills of the future. By honoring techniques used by resilient artists and people of different backgrounds and through acts of experimentation, this assortment of intriguing textures and graphic geometrics evolved. Each design, captivating in its own way, has a powerful presence shaping not only this collection of textiles, but life.
